Phenomenology at the Borders

Program Schedule

We are excited to welcome scholars and phenomenologists from all over the world to this historic, first joint meeting of The Interdisciplinary Coalition of North American Phenomenologists (ICNAP) and The Society of Phenomenology and the Human Science (SPHS).

We look forward to a stimulating and invigorating conference, and the opportunity to reconnect with old friends and colleagues, as well as forge new friendships and professional relationships.

Keynote Speakers

Mariana Ortega is Associate Professor of Philosophy and Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies at Pennsylvania State University. Her main scholarly interests are women of color feminisms, particularly Latina feminisms, philosophies of race, aesthetics, and phenomenology. She is the author of In-Between: Latina Feminist Phenomenology, Multiplicity, and the Self (SUNY, 2016).

Nigel Gibson is Professor in the Marlboro Institute for Liberal Arts and Interdisciplinary studies at Emerson College. An expert in the fields of Africana philosophies and thought, postcolonialism, and African studies, he is also recognized as a pre-eminent scholar of Frantz Fanon's work. Fanon, Psychiatry and Politics (Rowman and Littlefield, 2017) is a recent publication (with Roberto Beneduce).

Brock Bahler is Teaching Professor and director of undergraduate studies in the Department of Religious Studies at the University of Pittsburgh. His scholarship emphasises the philosophy of religion, Christian and Jewish philosophies, critical race theory, and embodied cognition. He is the author of Childlike Peace in Merleau-Ponty and Levinas: Intersubjectivity as Dialectical Spiral (Lexington, 2016)

Jacqueline Martinez is Professor of Communication in the School of Applied Sciences and Arts at Arizona State University. Their scholarly interest wrestles with culture as it manifests in communicative experience, particularly how intercultural, intergroup, and interpersonal relations structure possibilities for human expression and perception within contexts of power. Among their many publications is Phenomenology of Chicana Experience and Identity: Communication and Transformation in Praxis (Roman and Littlefield, 2000)
